

Course title	International Project Management
Course code	S 9909
Module coordinator	Miriam Heinrich
Lecturer	Martina Rühm
Level of course	Bachelor/Master
Recommended prerequisites	None
Type of course	Block Seminar
Weekly lecture hours (SWS)	2
ECTS credits	2
Workload	In total 60h, 30h course attendance, 30h self-study
Assessment (grading; pass/fail)	graded
Regular cycle	Each semester
Language of instruction	English
Contents:	Project Management consists in established and standardized methods and tools to achieve a defined target. For a successful and constructive collaboration, especially in an international/intercultural context, a sensitivity for cultural differences and organizational dynamics is an additional asset. Based on the IPMA -standards, this course offers you an overview of the most relevant Project Management methods and tools, supplemented by exercises and group work to reflect on and develop your individual competencies on these topics.
Learning outcome (competencies):	After having successfully completed the course, the students should <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• have an overview on Project Management Roles, Phases and Methods</li> <li>• be aware of the most relevant challenges in International Project Management</li> <li>• possess basic expertise in the most relevant Project Management methods</li> <li>• be sensitive on the specific challenges in international /intercultural project work</li> </ul>
Teaching methods	<input type="checkbox"/> Lecture <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Group work <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Exercises <input type="checkbox"/> Simulation <input type="checkbox"/> Video feedback <input type="checkbox"/> Others:
Assessment methods	Homework
Recommended reading	Information on literature will be provided within the course
Additional information
Recognition of credits	